

THE THREAT OF AN ANIMAL DISEASE IS REAL.

WILL YOU BE PREPARED?

TAKE THE FIRST STEP

REGISTER YOUR PREMISES

In an animal health emergency, no one can help you protect your animals if they don't know you are there. Choosing to register your premises ensures you will be notified quickly when a disease event might put your animals at risk. Voluntary participation means that you have the information you need—when you need it most—to protect your animals and your investment.

Premises registration is voluntary at the Federal level. To learn more about premises registration and the voluntary NAIS, please visit www.usda.gov/nais. Premises registration forms and additional information are available through your State, Tribe, or Territorial animal health authority. Contact information is provided on USDA's Web site, along with direct links to each State department of agriculture Web site where you can download premises registration forms and, in some cases, register online.
